In yesterday's races there were probably than at any time since the races opened. Not a single favorite won. Some of the Not a single favorite won. Some of the favorites were perhaps unwisely chosen as favorites and some of the winners were, perhaps, entitled to win on form. If they were, however, they were not played and scarcely anyone was able to beat the races. The books made up for the losses of the day before and had one of the best days of the meeting.

The longest shot of the day to win was Silver Leaf in the first race. This horse was 25 to 1 at post time with scarcely Silver Leaf in the first race. This horse was 25 to 1 at post time with scarcely any play. She got in the lead from the start and galloped in ahead of the bunch with ease. In the second race Lady Panchita, the second choice at 9 to 5, won nicely, while the favorite finished second. Hampass in the third race was a long shot at 15 to 1. He won handily with the second choice in the betting second the second choice in the betting second and My Nurse, a long shot to show, third.
